

I do not believe that ANY business has the best interests of the public in it's mind.

Having said that, ANY business that controls MOST or ALL of the media in any size market (rural, metropolitan, national, or international) can impose it's will (social or political agenda) upon the citizens who do not have access to other voices and opinions.

I DO NOT APPROVE any consolidation of media or allowing parent companies to control more outlets than they are currently allowed.

I am pretty sure that the ones who will gain the most from this consolidation and fewer restrictions in licensing are the one who need the extra power the least.
